"Phil" says that the man who killed Carey was his cousin "Pat." "Pat." was a dandy," says "Phil," "and with a club he could paralyze a whole county. He was about forty years of age, and the easiest man with his fist that you ever saw."

"Iney say that the man who killed Carey was a Captain Phelan, of Kansas City," suggested the reporter.

"That is just what I come to talk about, said Mr. O'Donnell, as he unfolded a morning paper and drew attention to a paragraph which described the murderer as closely resembling the above mentioned citizen of that place, who, as is stated, left about two months ago, eleasibly to look after a legacy of some distant relative living in Tipperary, Ireland. "Phelau may have gone loriend, but of one thing I am positive, and that is that he was not the man who killed Carey. Pat has that he was not the man who killed Carey. Pat has the prisoners in Dublin. My slater wrote me that he was say from home half the time and that of late had been most mysterious. I don't believe he was alone in this thing. He had the active support of the Irish societies and many active in the recent Irish troubles in Dublin were constantly with him before his disappearance about the middle of June."

It was not congenial, however, and he resigned, and, going into polities in the Twenty-seventh Ward, he made himself so useful that Mayor Stokley, of that city, put him on his force, and during the close of the Centennial Exposition he did duty on the grounds as sergeant of the guard."

At the office of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company in this city it was said yesterday that the em-Kalway, had been foreseen by the officers of the company, who had not been over-anxious, therefore, to avail themselves of the option for the purchase of the property. The Canadian Pacific loaned Mr. Barlow $1,250,000 on the collateral security of $1,750,000 thist mortgage bonds, the entire issue. It was agreed finally that the company could have the road for $3,200,000, and President Stephen said that at that price the property was a good bargain. It was said further that the company preferred to await the turn of events, in the hope that it might make a still better trade. The company holds the first mortgage on the property, which probably would have to be foreclosed. It was thought very doubtful whether the Grand Trank Railway would be a rival in the purchase of the road. avail themselves of the option for the purchase of the

It is believed the habilities of the firm will reach about $160,000, with assets about $140,000. The firm has offered to pay 50 cents on the dollar. A general meeting of the creditors has been called here to be held on August 14.

UNFOUNDED REPORTS OF FAILURES,

For two or three days there have been rumors in Wall Street and elsewhere that a prominent dry-goods house was embarrassed and likely to fail, and that its liabilities would be reckoned by several millions. The names of two or three firms have been coupled with this rumor. Yesterday the well-known Broadway drygoods house of Bates, Reed & Cooley was one of these, though all well-informed merchants and bankers laugued at the suggestion that so strong a firm was in any way crippled. A TRIBUNE reporter last evening called upon John H. Reed, who said in answer to his inquiries; "There is no truth whatever in any report that we are in any way embarrassed or likely to be. We have made it a practice as far as possible to clear off all debts in July and January of each year. Sometimes there have been a few thousand dollars of debts outstanding that could not be paid of, because we could not just at that time reach the persons to whom the smounts

A report was incirculation also that Hazen, Todds & Co., dealers in fancy dry goods at No. 451 Broadway, were in trouble. This was denied absolutely by Richard S. Todd last evenng. Mr. Todd said that the firm was stronger and sounder than it was a year ago, and that it was doing a larger business. There was not the smallest ground, he said, for such a report, which he attributed to malice. "At jany time this year jat least," Mr. Todd said laughingly, "you may deny the report whenever you hear it."

THE RATE WAR AT THE WEST.

The troubles in passenger rates between Chicago and St. Louis have not been brought officially to the attention of Commissioner Fink's office. The trunk lines are not likely to take official action unless the cutting of rates proceeds even further than it has zone at present. As yet the through rates from New-York to Missouri River points are not affected. The local rate from Chicago to St. Louis is $8. The through rate from New-York to Chicago is $20 and from New-York to St. Louis $24 25, by the Pennsylvania and New-York Central roads. B:yond Chicago and St. rates eastward. This is done by an agree-ment put into effect on January 1, 1883, between the trunk lines and their Western connections that occupy the territory between the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers. It was boped when this agreement was made that the war of rates which has pravailed between be stopped. The recent dispatches from the West show that the trouble has again broken out as regards local dusiness between Chicago and St. Louis, and between those places and places further west. The trunk-line managers, however, say that it will not affect through rates unless the quarrelling roads reduce the local fare between Calcago and St. Louis below $4.25, the difference in the trough rates from New-York to Chicago and St. Louis. In that case Missouri River business may be diverted from the St. Louis lines to the Chicago roads. The Chicago and Alton recently witudrew from its agreement with the trunk lines to add the local fare from Chicago. It charged the Wabash road with beginning the cutting of rates between Chicago and St. Louis, but the friends of the Wabash charge the Chicago and Alton with supplying "scalpers" with local tickets at cut rates. be stopped. A SOUTHERN PACIFIC REQUEST REFUSED. Washington, Aug. 10 .- J. Hale Sypher, acting as attorney for the Southern Pacific Raliroad Company, addressed a letter on July 25 to the Secretary of the Interior requesting the "approintment of a commis sioner to examine without delay sections of the com-pleted road on the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad." Mr. Sypher held that, as the protest filed by Me ears. Rosecrans, Cobb, Dunn and Newell had been withdrawn, there remained no obstacle in the way of making the desired appointment. To make this appointment Mr.
Sypher contended that the Department of the Interior would wave no right or principle in the matter; that all questions as to the legal status and rights of the company could be reserved until after the examination shall nave been made and the report of the commissioner submitted, when the Department could pass on them.
To-day Secretary Teller sent this letter to Acting Secretary Joslyn with the following indersement: "No commissioner should be appointed, and I have so notified Mr. Spher as well Mr. Neweil." The letter will be returned to Mr. Sypher.

Among the strikers the rumor that a committee had been appointed to negotiate a settlement with the Western Union independently of the Brotherhood was denied, and the utmost confidence expressed in the judgment of the managers of the strike. Much indignation was expressed when it was said that disputched had been sent to various cities stating that a break had occurred here and the Brotherhood had given in as beaten. At the strikers' meeting held at Clarendon Hall yesterday afternoon, the subject of outling wires was discussed and a few of the linemen, it was said, expressed themselves in favor of that method of carrying on the warfare. The general feeting was, however, opposed to the destructive work, and the sense of the meeting being taken a large majority declared in favor of carrying on the straggle in a purely lawful manner. Patrick F. Lucas, a lineman who had been on strike secured a position in the American Rapid Transit employ and was ordered to Portenester. Yesterday foreneous he applied to the Western Union for the money due him from July I to 18 and started to go to the battery room, on the fifth floor of the building to get his votices signed by Mr. Brown. He was stopped by Albert Nugent, who had charge of the gate to the battery room, and there was and altereation between the two meniodites flek, of the Twanty-seventh Precinet, who was in citizen's clothes, had hold of Lucas, whereupon the latter struck aim.
